The report of the Coins received by the Mint, & which appeared to the Officials, gave the date of the issue of the Coins, 1793-1795. & whilst I had no doubt of the statement it appeared strange that the Coins were issued in 1795. & during the short term of Washington's Yours letter set the matter at rest. My dear Sir: -

Yours of 7th inst. rec'd. for which accept thanks, the information is very satisfactory. I recently rec'd from the De Saussure family (in South Carolina, the portrait of Washington, painted in Philada. for Chancellor De Saussure from sittings given by Washington to the Artist Peale in 1795.) and which for generations has been hanging upon the walls of old mansion in the interior of Carolina.

In the correspondence with the family, the statement was made that the portrait was painted for Chancellor De Saussure & the sitting were given in appreciation of the exertions of De Saussure in having the gold coin issued during Washington's administration, & the first coins were sent to Washington &c.

The report of the coins issued by the Mint, & which appeared to be official, gave the date of the issue of the coins, 1793-1795. & whilst I had no doubt of the statement it appeared strange that the coins were issued in 1795. & during the short term of De Saussure.

Your letter set the matter at rest completely.

I am yours respty.
